

UK Bus Checker gets Live Train Times

27th November 2015 – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FatAttitude is pleased to announce that, from today, the UK Bus Checker app will include live train times for every station in the United Kingdom.

Users can now tap on any railway station in the UK for an instant departure board. Also included are up-to-date delays and disruption information – plus the platform number for each train. Director Carl Partridge says "we can't tell you whether the buffet car has any egg sandwiches left - but we're working on it."

Information displayed is the same official data that's displayed in UK railway stations, sourced live from National Rail Enquiries.

Train stations themselves are fully integrated into the app; users can plan journeys to/from them, or even add them to your favourites on your Today/Home screen or Apple Watch.

Other Features

Following an upgrade earlier this year, Bus Checker now has live journey planning, so it's easier than ever to plan a journey from A to B. Buses, trains, tubes and trams are all covered, plus a handy journey tracking mode.
